● Qupet Division Introduction

Under the Qupet brand, our pet toy division is dedicated to creating safe, eco-friendly, and high-quality toys. As a full-service OEM/ODM provider, Qupet handles the entire manufacturing process — from concept design and mold development to foaming, injection molding, assembly, and global shipment.

We use biobased, eco-foam materials that are lightweight, durable, and free from harmful chemicals, fully compliant with international safety standards such as EN71 and ASTM F963. Our product range includes flying discs, chew balls, tug ropes, and interactive play items, catering to pet brands and wholesalers seeking function, safety, and sustainability.

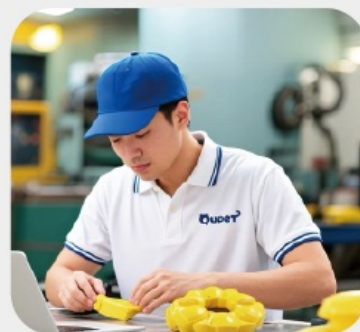

Qupet's strong R&D capabilities, patented design expertise, and rigorous quality control system give us a competitive edge in customizing products by color, hardness, size, logo, and packaging. This enables our partners — whether they are global pet brands, retailers, or e-commerce sellers — to build differentiated, sustainable product lines.

● Company Introduction

Lead Fair (Guangzhou Lead Fair Plastic Co., Ltd.) is a premier polymer manufacturer with over 46 years of experience. We uphold international quality standards and rigorous quality control, serving as a trusted ODM/OEM partner for globally recognized brands like Dr. Scholl's. Our advanced production capabilities include foaming, injection molding, thermo-compression, and more, all certified to meet safety and sustainability benchmarks.

Specializing in innovative materials, we develop Bio-TPE composites to deliver eco-friendly yet high-performing solutions across various industries. Our integrated "one-stop" service model covers everything from material compounding and mold development to production, assembly, packaging, and global logistics.

With a production base exceeding 110,000 m<sup>2</sup> and annual output in the millions, Lead Fair is capable of both small-batch prototyping and mass production. Through a commitment to quality, sustainability, and innovation, we strive to be a global leader in advanced manufacturing.
